

Milestones of History Recorded in Sound By Records in New York's 'Radio City'

By HOPE CHAMBERLIN
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

NEW YORK.—In a small, dark room in a corner of a tall building in New York's "Radio City," Adolf Hitler shouts bitterly against the British empire; Prime Minister Winston Churchill retorts vigorously that his country will not yield an inch; Pope Pius XII prays for peace; Franklin D. Roosevelt takes the oath of the office for a third term as President of the United States; the Dionne quintuplets sing "Oh, Johnny, Oh."

The setting is the record library of the National Broadcasting company. Stored away in that little room, in tall stacks of tin containers, are more than 50,000 transcriptions of virtually every phase of history, awaiting only the push of a button and the scratch of a needle to bring them to life for tomorrow's historians and students.

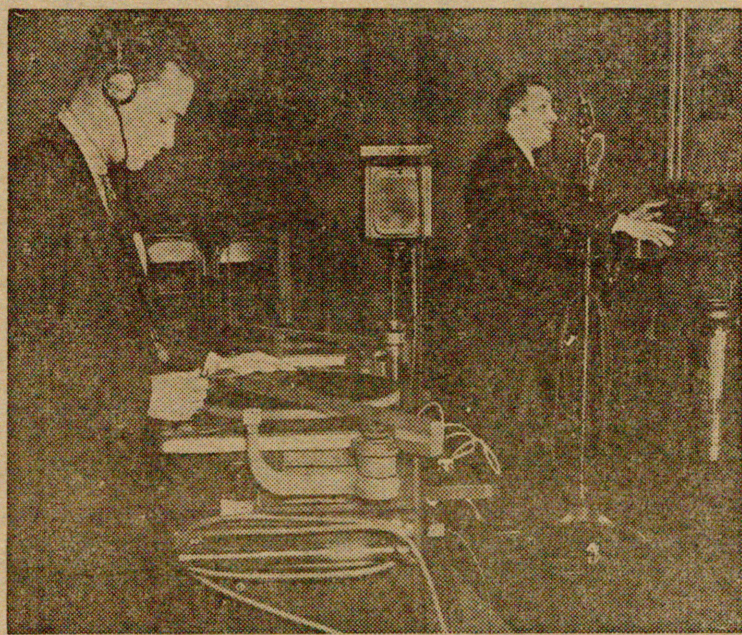

The value of the library cannot be measured in dollars—its treasures rival those of a dozen Captain Kidds. And, in years to come, students, historians, scholars, educators and journalists will be able to use the library, just as contemporary writers use libraries and museums and newspaper morgues.

Voices, Emotions Important.

Take, for example, a journalist in the year 1987 who is sweating over a series of columns on "The Second World War." Newspaper files, magazines, books, scholarly dissertations will provide him with the basic facts. But what about the actual voices of Hitler, Mussolini, Roosevelt, Churchill, eye-witnesses, and what about the emotions and intonations which printed words don't convey?

In tiny grooves he will find the complete story—told from dugout and underground studios amid the crash of bursting bombs, the scream of air raid sirens, the ominous silence of the Forest of Compiègne.

Historians of the future will be able to hear the whole story, from that most dramatic day in broadcasting, Sunday, September 3, 1939, when a tired, soft-spoken gentleman announced "with regret" to a grieving world that the government of Great Britain was at war with the Playing back a broadcast a few minutes after it has gone off the air is an easy matter. One side of the record will contain an hour-long show. Because of the aluminum shortage, only pickups from abroad and broadcasts of a controversial nature are recorded on acetate; others are recorded on little rolls of film.

German nation. And the subsequent replies of Dictators Hitler and Mussolini. They will hear Chamberlain resigning from office and Winston Churchill, the new prime minister, resolving to fight on, despite the entailing "blood and sweat and toil and tears."

Non-Military History.

And, since the last decade of our civilization has not been a story of war alone, historians will be able to review other milestones in our lives. Momentous events in nearly all phases of life can be resurrected through these disks. Here are a few other chunks of history recorded on acetate:

Religion—The coronation of Pope Pius XI; the Pontifical Mass for his successor, Pius XII.

Science—The voices and thoughts of Marconi, wireless inventor, in his broadcasts of 1935 and 1936. The report of an expedition directly from the Amazonian jungles. The Picard expedition of 1933 into the stratosphere.

Aeronautics—The round-the-world flight of Howard Hughes as reported by ground observers and by Hughes himself, from his plane.

Catastrophes—The salvaging of the ill-fated submarine, Squalus, from the bottom of the ocean off Portsmouth, N. H.; the Ohio river floods.

Sports—Football and baseball games, golf tournaments, the Olympic games.

Politics—Conventions, inaugurations, debates.

Superior to Printed Word.

Jampacked with acetate disks, the tall piles of tin containers in NBC's record library are in some ways more valuable than the other basic source of historical matter—the printed word. For since the recording of a historical situation presents the actual scene literally and without interpretation, the listener is made an ear-witness to the goings-on and placed in a position to pass objectively on "what happened."

Because special event broadcasting is taken pretty much for granted, it may be hard to conceive the reference value to coming generations of this collection of recordings. The worth might be more fully realized by looking further into the past.

Think how they would be cherished if there were records of Lincoln's Gettysburg Address and the Lincoln-Douglas debates; the surrender of the British army to Washington at Yorktown; Napoleon's talks to his soldiers; and Robert Fulton's first steamboat trip up the Hudson river.

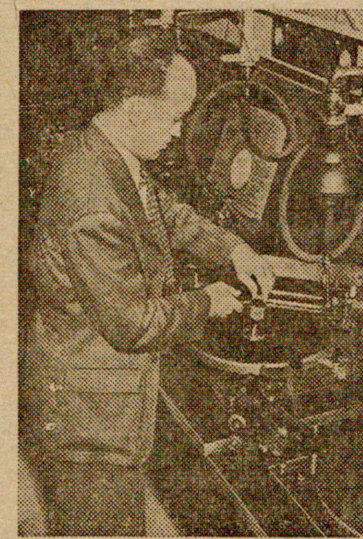

The acetate recordings mentioned have an aluminum base. With the nation's defense production in full swing, non-defense consumption of aluminum is being curtailed. Therefore, only pickups from abroad and broadcasts of a controversial nature are now recorded on acetate. All other recordings of broadcasts are recorded on little rolls of film which can be played back in a "recordingograph." A day-long schedule of broadcasts occupies but a short film roll.

Record Overseas Broadcasts.

Overseas broadcasts are recorded on "memovox"—large, flexible celluloid platters. One side records an hour-long show.

As the years roll on, students, historians, scholars, educators and journalists will find delving into bygone days much easier. Radio's record library does away with the arduous task of searching for official papers, manuscripts, letters, diaries, broadsides, pamphlets, newspapers, magazines and volumes of transactions.

Instead of dead documents, tomorrow's historians can refer to living records!

"Cutting" a record from the air. This one is an acetate disc with aluminum platter base. It is essential that an even volume be maintained throughout the recording.

Acting in Plays Proves

Valuable Help for Blind

NEW YORK.—Training in stage technique for sightless students has proved so valuable an aid in developing poise, and greater confidence in movement and speech, that the American Foundation for the Blind has instituted such training on a national scale.

Dramatic coaches specially trained have been sent to inaugurate this work in schools for the blind throughout the West and South.

Bombers in Singapore, Manila, hold threat to Japan's vital oil stores . . . Hopkins good choice as head of Office of Emergency Management.
(Bell Syndicate—WNU Service.)

WASHINGTON.—It isn't the United States fleet, hovering around Pearl Harbor, that is staying the hands of the Japanese war lords, keeping them from striking at Singapore and seizing the Dutch East Indies while Britain is fighting with her back to the wall. It's bombers. British bombers at Singapore, yes, but chiefly American bombers, both at Singapore and Manila.

It is known that most of the British air strength at Singapore has come from the U. S. A. but, perhaps more important, Uncle Sam has been sending heavy bombers to Manila, building up his own air arm in that remote part of the world.

But why should that worry Japan, it might be asked. Japan has a strong aviation force, a big navy, and a magnificent army. So why should Japan worry about American—or British—bombers?

The answer is simple. It is demonstrated twice a week or more in the aerial war between Britain and Germany. It is a fact beyond doubt that the British air force is not as strong as the German—yet the British can and do bomb any particular spot on the occupied coast or in Germany they like.

The point is that superiority in the air, even when it is very great, is not enough to prevent bombing, even bombing of particular small targets at particular times.

OIL SUPPLY VULNERABLE

Which brings us to the real heart of the Japanese fear of exciting Uncle Sam too much in this Far Eastern business. It so happens that Japan is very shy on oil. But she must have oil for her ships, her planes, her tanks, and her supply trains.

Japan has plenty of storage oil, plenty for an emergency—BUT—Japan's secret service knows that the U. S. and British navies know precisely where every gallon of it is stored!

It is the considered opinion of military experts that the Japanese army and navy would be immobilized within a few days of any hostile move by the demolition of Nippon's entire oil supply.

Hopkins Good Choice As O. E. M. Head

There are two sides to this business of putting Harry Hopkins in charge of the Office of Emergency Management, one of the most important in war effort. There is such criticism, of course, as has been made on the floor of the house of representatives by John Taber of New York. Taber thinks the Hopkins appointment is the worst thing President

Harry Hopkins

Roosevelt has done in the whole national defense setup.

But there is another angle, and one which will appeal tremendously to any of the people who will now work under Hopkins. At least they will know, always, that their chief is just about supreme—that nobody is going to get in between their chief and the President. Therefore, if they can satisfy their own chief, they are all right.

Everyone who has ever worked in any big organization, whether it be government or a corporation, knows the tremendous value of this, and knows that it makes for good feeling and for efficiency.

DISCOURAGES FACTIONALISM

The point may well be raised that perhaps, if he blunders enough, he ought to be destroyed. That is the other side of the picture, and it fits with the Taber criticism. But at least it has the virtue of pretty nearly eliminating the sort of factionalism which is so rampant in many government branches and in many corporations, where certain individuals inside, hoping to advance their own status by a change, play with certain figures outside their immediate group with the hope of ultimately throwing their chief out the window.

That sort of thing is rife in government offices. For some reason connected with the frailties of human nature, being on the government payroll seems to breed it. But it is also true in many private enterprises, particularly those not run by a "czar." "Office politics" is just as blighting in private employment as in the government.

No one has any doubt of the hold Harry Hopkins has on the President. He has taken the place so long occupied in FDR's heart by Louis Howe. Actually he is much bigger, mentally, and in his breadth of vision than Howe. Also he has more friends, outside the Roosevelt circle. It is questionable whether he has anything like the political shrewdness of his predecessor.

Draft Reunites Father and Son After 21 Years

Dad Finds Name in List of Draftees; Lived in Des Moines for Decade.

DES MOINES, IOWA.—A father and his 24-year-old son at the Fort Des Moines army post saw each other for the first time in 21 years, though both have lived here the last 10 years.

The son was William W. Richardson, who goes by his middle name, Weldon.

He was one of 53 Polk county men recruited in the fourth call under the selective service act.

It was the publication of the 53 names which revealed to William L. Richardson, 44, that his son was living in the same town and had volunteered.

The youth's grandfather, William Richardson, 73, also reunited with Weldon at the post, recalled he had "just run down through the list to see who I knew" and was sure it was his grandson when he came to Weldon's name.

Separated by Divorce.

The grandfather said he had seen the boy seven or eight years ago but had lost track of him since and did not even know he still lived in Des Moines.

The father recalled he himself joined the army in 1913 but left when Weldon was born.

When the child was three, William L. said, he and his wife were divorced, and he went from Des Moines to New York state to work as a marine engineer for eight years.

"I tried to find where he was while I was there," the father explained.

"I wrote back to friends to see if they knew where he was, but things seemed to be against finding out."

"I thought maybe he had changed his name."

Then in 1927, William L. went to Emmetsburg, Iowa, and four years later moved back to Des Moines, where he has been working as a sheet metal contractor.

'Hello' and 'Good-by.'

In November, 1939, William L., one of three men trapped on the hangar during the airport fire here, was burned when a ladder broke as he scrambled to safety. The son recalled he had read about the fire.

After discovery of Weldon's name, the father looked it up in the telephone book and found the son had no telephone.

Then he got in touch with army officers and arranged for the meeting.

Not until the two older men arrived at the post, after he had, did Weldon know his father was to be on hand to say "hello" and then "good-by."

As any two men meeting for the first time, father and son talked shyly together. Not until after many minutes of conversation did the father suddenly learn the son is a plasterer.

A moment later, Weldon shyly held out his hand to say good-by.

Like the others, Weldon wore a number around his neck as he was examined and was passed.

Flyer Lands on Highway

Lined With Power Lines

WILMINGTON, DEL.—A. W. Garrard, manager of the Palm Springs (Calif.) airport, probably is beginning to think of a landing field as something of a luxury.

Within a week he used a wheat field and then the eastbound lane of a dual highway as an emergency roost for his plane. Bringing his ship down on the highway near here was quite a feat, Garrard admits. Power and phone wires lined the roadway and left only a narrow strip of concrete for the aviator.

Once down, Garrard taxied his plane into a near-by driveway and left it there overnight. State police halted traffic for a few minutes the next morning while he took off.

Coast Guard Outwitted

By Youths With Kite

PORTLAND, AUSTRALIA.—The coast guardsmen blushed when boys put this one over.

The ketch Pengana had run aground on a dangerous coral reef 200 yards offshore. The problem was how to get a line to it. The boys attached a tuna fish line, to which a sinker and a balloon had been tied to keep it afloat, to their kite and flew it out over the ketch.

Once the crew had the fish line, a heavy line was attached at the shore end, then a steel cable, and the crew pulled them aboard.

A 'Trickle' Pours Funds

Into the Water Bureau

BOSTON.—Tantalization, rather than force, has solved this city's long-itching problem of uncollected water bills.

The idea is to reduce the flow of water to a "mere trickle" in the homes of delinquents.

George Hylan, public works commissioner, told a legislative committee that before he inaugurated the "trickle" plan three years ago unpaid bills resulted in a $200,000 annual deficit for the water division.

Since then, he said, a $1,500,000 surplus had been realized.

Vitamin B₁ Of Value in Anemia Cases

By DR. JAMES W. BARTON

TWO friends of mine died of pernicious anemia just a few years before Doctors Minot and Murphy (Boston) made this startling discovery that death from pernicious anemia could be prevented by the use of liver. Since that time liver extract and extract of hog's stomach have been found effective in this formerly fatal disease.

While the cause of pernicious anemia is unknown, I know that severe emotional upsets and extreme mental work or overwork had undermined the health of these two friends and that this might have been a partial cause of their death by pernicious anemia.

Just as mental or emotional strain can affect the organs of the body—heart, blood vessels, stomach, intestine—so can they also affect the life stream. That more than the quality or quantity of the red blood cells are affected in pernicious anemia is shown by the fact that even after the blood becomes normal in the number and iron content of its red corpuscles, the patient may continue to have symptoms such as pain and exhaustion.

Drs. F. Sciclounoff and M. Naville, in the Swiss Medical Journal state that in a series of cases of pernicious anemia in which the blood was up to normal, the patients continued to have the symptoms. They administered thiamin chloride (vitamin B₁) to 13 of these cases and found that this treatment can relieve and often cure the symptoms due to the disturbances of the nervous system. In favorable cases there was improvement in movement and in sensitiveness, and the pain stopped in a short time.

Nerves Prolong Symptoms.

The thought then in pernicious anemia is that the nerves are apparently damaged to some extent, thus prolonging the symptoms even after the blood is restored to normal. The treatment to relieve these symptoms is the use of vitamin B₁ (thiamin chloride) which, as stated before, enables the oxygen in the blood to get directly to the nerve cells. Foods rich in vitamin B₁ and therefore of help in conditions affecting the nerves—neuritis, arthritis, nervous exhaustion—are ham, bacon, peanuts, beef, liver, malted milk, wheat germ and yeast.

Pain in Chest Due to Effort

AS YOUNGSTERS when we played hard a pain would occur in the chest and we would have to stop playing or play more leisurely. This pain was due to the fact that we were playing so hard, or were so excited while playing, that too much waste—carbon dioxide—from the exercise accumulated in the blood.

Today, when adults get this tight or gripping pain in chest or under the breastbone, it is called angina pectoris. This is due, as with youngsters playing hard, to something preventing enough pure blood to flow through the little blood vessels carrying pure or unused blood from the lungs to the heart.

When this pain comes on from effort, stopping what you are doing or doing it less rapidly will in most cases cause the pain to disappear.

In speaking of angina (pain) due to effort, Dr. Geoffrey Bourne, London, in the British Medical Journal, states that in the majority of cases rest is not needed; in fact, the patient should be encouraged to take regular exercise to increase the strength of his heart and lungs. If during the exercise pain occurs, exercise may be stopped for a time, but a gradual increase in the amount of work that can be done or exercise taken before the pain appears will be noticed soon.

Patients who are overweight, in whom this pain in the chest occurs, can be greatly helped by a reduction of their weight.

Standing, sitting and walking in an erect position, carrying abdomen drawn in, will often prevent this pain. When exercise cannot be taken, holding the abdomen in by means of a well-fitted abdominal belt will prevent or postpone the pain.

QUESTION BOX

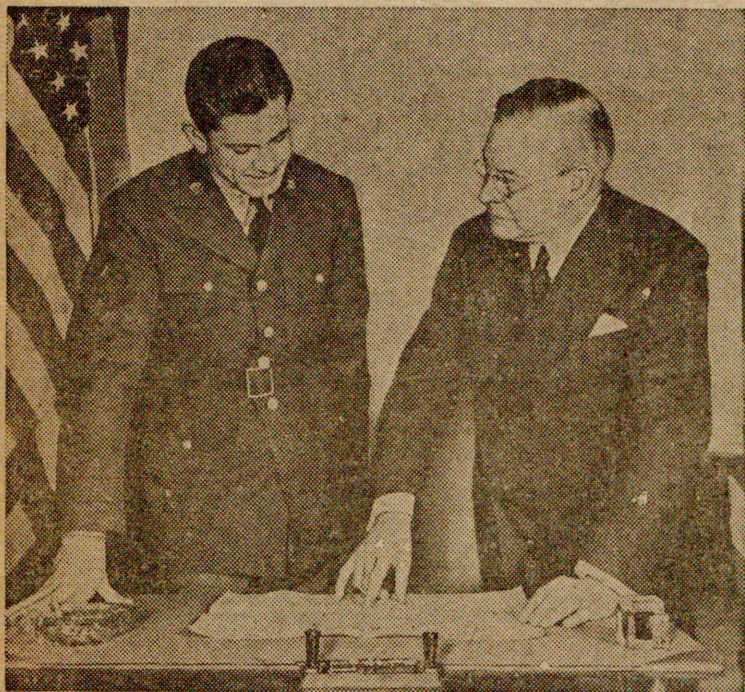

Q.—Could you suggest a remedy for nose bleed?

A.—Most cases of nose bleed are due to a small vessel being near the lining surface of the nose. Blowing nose is often sufficient to cause bleeding. Nose bleed can be due to other conditions of the body.

Q.—Where there is an exudative retina condition and a small part of the vision is lost, can it be restored?

A.—Your own physician can best answer your questions or could refer you to any eye specialist.

Prepare Campaign to Provide Recreation for Soldiers, Sailors

Proposed plans for clubhouses to be operated for men in the armed services are inspected by First Class Private Stanley P. Kulik, of Wilkes Barre, Pa. (left) and W. Spencer Robertson, chairman of the United Service Organization executive board. The U. S. O. is launching a drive for $10,765,000 to maintain 339 recreational centers throughout the country.

WASHINGTON.—Soldiers at army camps will have adequate facilities for wholesome entertainment, if a new money-raising campaign succeeds. Six agencies have banded together into the United Service Organizations for National Defense, Inc., to support a nation-wide drive for $10,765,000. The money will be used to provide clubhouses and off-post recreation for soldiers and sailors, according to Walter Hoving, president.

Agencies co-operating in this drive are the National Travelers Aid association, Salvation Army, National Catholic Community Service, the Jewish Welfare board, the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A.

It is planned to provide club facilities in 339 localities near camps, naval stations and defense centers throughout the country. Buildings will be provided by the federal government, while the U. S. O. will supply funds for their operation.

Hoving explains that the problem

Vaccine Protects Horses

Against Sleeping Sickness

WASHINGTON.—An improved method of immunizing horses against encephalomyelitis, commonly known as sleeping sickness of horses, by intradermic vaccination is reported by Dr. John R. Mohler, chief of the department of agriculture, bureau of animal industry.

Injection of the vaccine into the skin has yet to reveal unfavorable results.

ILLINI GIRLS STATE

Boys State, which originated with the American Legion in Illinois, in 1934, has been adopted by the National organization of the Legion and is now operating in 34 states. Its purpose is to teach the youth of today constructive attitudes toward the American form of government.

The American Legion Auxiliary realizes that it is just as important to awaken in the leaders among young women a desire to study the practical operation of our government to appreciate with intelligence the reasons for its foundation, to be familiar with its entire structure from the individual to the officers in the administration of the state.

Illini Girls State was inaugurated in 1940 by the Legion Auxiliary and met with such success that it has been made a permanent part of the Auxiliary's Americanism program.

The second Illini Girls State will be held on the campus of MacMurray College at Jacksonville, June 28th to July 5th with the administration and instructors being competent and experienced leaders.

The 360 girls who will attend, will be drawn from every part of the state. They will elect their own city, county and state officials and will

Will Co. Chapter Of American Red Cross Hold Meeting

The annual meeting of the Will County Chapter of the American Red Cross was held in the Chapter Headquarters, in the Chamber of Commerce Bldg., in Joliet Monday night and was well attended. All the volunteer workers present wore their Red Cross uniforms.

Nearly all the Branch organizations gave reports.

At the election of officers, Mr. W. Johnson was chosen president; Vice president and secretary, Mrs. Theo. Ladd and treasurer, C. Cameron all of Joliet.

A vote of thanks was recorded in the minutes of the meeting, expressing the Chapter's gratitude to Dr. Woodruff retiring president, for his many years of faithful volunteer service.

The Junior Red Cross delegate to the National convention at Washington, a student from Joliet Township highschool, gave a splendid report.

Mrs. Al. Baskin, of Joliet, who was also a volunteer delegate to the convention, gave her impressions of same. All the reports stressed National Defense; the obligation of the Red Cross by their Charter, to the men in the Service, both Army and Navy. As these departments increase, the duties of the Red Cross will increase.

First Aid training is to be a large factor in Red Cross work during the next few months and it is hoped that every citizen both in cities and rural areas will take up First Aid. It is one of the finest things we can learn for with the speeding-up of industry, over-crowding of home areas, accidents will increase daily, and that is one reason that every person should know first-aid, as a protection to themselves and their families, as well as to be able to help a neighbor should the occasion arise.

Will County has just given Lay Instructors certificates to 38 new teachers who will go thru out the county as volunteers to instruct classes in first-aid. Among these 38 new instructors, are Mrs. R. McGuire and Miss Ada Semmler of Mokena.

The Chapter has been given a huge quota of sewing and sweaters as well as thousands of new surgical dressings, the supplies for which will soon be in.

Will County is inaugurating a Canteen Service, with Mrs. T. Flint as chairman; also a Motor Corps within a month. There will be more about these two services in the next issue.

Will County sports fans will witness something new and thrilling when the new midget auto race track is opened at St. Joseph's Park, Joliet on Sunday May, 18.

Midget Auto Racing has risen to fifth place in the nation's roster of sports popularity. A group of Joliet business men leased St. Joseph's Park for Sunday night Midget Auto races. The track now being laid is a fifth of mile clay oval. The Joliet Racing Association expects 35 drivers and midget cars to place in the first race, which will be run on an open competition basis with a guaranteed purse to the winners.

Joliet has several midget drivers, among whom are: Joe Gersich, Lee Spencer and Fritz Scholtes. They will participate in the race with other local drivers, and some cars from as far as St. Louis, Indianapolis, etc.

The time trials will start at 7:30 Sunday evening with the races starting at 8:30. There will be six events.

The Park will be known as the Joliet Nite Speedway. Many more thrills are evidenced at midget races than the big car races, due primarily to the small track. Spectators in the bleachers can see every inch of the track all through every race.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Everlasting Punishment" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, May 4.

The Golden Text was, "He that covereth his sins shall not prosper; but whoso confesseth and forsaketh them shall have mercy" (Proverbs 28:13).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "My son, despise not the chastening of the Lord; neither be weary of his correction: For whom the Lord loveth he correcteth; even as a father the son in whom he delighteth" (Proverbs 3:11, 12).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "In trying to undo the errors of sense one must pay fully and fairly the utmost farthing, until all error is finally brought into subjection to Truth. The divine method of paying sin's wages involves unwinding one's snarls, and learning from experience how to divide between sense and Soul" (p. 240).

"THE GOLDEN RULE OF TELEPHONING"

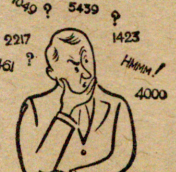

ANSWER PROMPTLY—otherwise the person calling may think you are not there and hang up, sometimes causing you to miss a very important call.

BE SLOW TO HANG UP when calling. Stay at the telephone until you get an answer, a "busy signal," or until you are reasonably sure no one will answer.

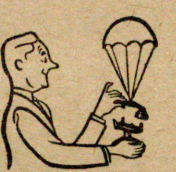

SPEAK INTO THE MOUTHPIECE with your lips about one-half inch from it. This position gives the best voice transmission and the clearest reception.

BE SURE OF THE NUMBER before you call. If you're not quite sure, look in the directory. You may save time and avoid a "wrong" number.

SPEAK DISTINCTLY and about as loud as in ordinary conversation. Your normal tone of voice conveys your message most clearly. No need to shout.

HANG UP GENTLY after making certain the other person has finished. Banging down the receiver may cause a harsh sound in the other person's ear.

Steven McGovney has been ill, but is able to be about.

Irving Erickson has been ill with intestinal flu.

Mrs. Fred Brooke entertained the Afternoon Leisure Hour group in her home last Thursday afternoon at a one o'clock dinner. The afternoon was spent informally. The same group gathered last Sunday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Walsh in Joliet at a surprise birthday party honoring Mrs. Walsh. Cards formed the evening's diversion, and a light supper was served at midnight. The honored guest was presented with a gift by the group. Guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Jex, Mr. and Mrs. John Walsh, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kirby, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Minger, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Evers, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. O'Reilly, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Walsh, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Walsh and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brooks. The women who meet during the afternoon will meet next at the home of Mrs. Lucille Jex.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Rowswell and daughter Jean, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Rowswell and son Tommy and Mrs. Sarah Rowswell were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Rowswell at their home in Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Garman entertained the "Bunch" pinocle club in their home last Saturday night. Prizes were awarded to Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Collatz, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ingram and Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Frick. The dynamite prize went to Mrs. Ingram and the dummy to Mr. Collatz. Mr. and Mrs. Ingram will entertain the club next.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lorber of Davenport, Iowa, spent the weekend here with Mrs. Lillian McCleary and family. Miss Alice Lorber who spent a week here with her cousin Dorothy McCleary, returned to Iowa with her parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter B. Gougar, Sr., visited Sunday in Kankakee with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hopper.

Mrs. Harold Sayers was the honored guest at a Stork shower last Friday evening in the home of Mrs. Josephine Sayers with Miss Ruth Sayers and Mrs. Joseph Novak as hostesses.

Bunco was played and prizes were awarded to Mrs. Walter Olson, and Mrs. Howard Ayres; a guessing game also took place with Miss Dorothy McCleary winning the prize.

The winners in turn presented them to the honored guest, who also received many lovely baby gifts. Refreshments were served at one large table covered with a lace cloth and centered with a beautiful bouquet of red roses. Guests were: Mrs. Howard Lentz of Oak Forest, Mrs. Walter Olson, Mokena, Mrs. Sarah Rowswell, Mrs. Ted Rowswell, Miss Dorothy McCleary, Miss Alice Lorber, Miss Mary Jane Gougar, Mrs. Howard Ayres, Mrs. Bessie Reed, Mrs. Willard Sayers, Mrs. Josephine Sayers, Mrs. Glen Batson, Mrs. Edward Morris, Mrs. Clark Watkins, Miss Gladys Watkins, the honored guest and the hostesses.

Mrs. Harold Sayers broke an ankle when she fell down the stairs at her home last week end.

Mrs. Frank Vally opened her home Tuesday afternoon to the New Lenox Garden Club. The president, Mrs. Stanley Ekedahl presided. Mrs. Steven Sargeant read an article on "Lilacs"; Mrs. Archie Corp read an article on "Gladioli and their care"; Mrs. Fred Krog talked on "Dahlia, and how they should be planted"; Mrs. Will Drake read an article on "How far does your neighborliness reach" and "Permanent Peace". Plans were made for an all day trip to Lombard where they will visit the Lilac Display and Mortons Arboretum.

ORLAND PARK

ORLAND SCHOOL NEWS

The magazine campaign which had a very fine start looks as if it will have still a better ending. The three leaders of the school are: Robt. Hewson, Jack Schlosser. They also are the leaders of the freshmen class.

In the sophomore class, Ruth Gee and Eleanor Cooper are the leaders and in the junior class, Norman Jorgensen and Hilda Zerbs are the leaders. The total amount collected so far is $80.50.

Pete Uthe was elected honorary captain of the high school basketball team for past season at the meeting last Thursday. Norman Kramer was elected captain of the grade school team.

At the morning assembly last Wednesday, the high school squad players were awarded white chenille letters on purple background. The boys receiving high school awards were: Pete Uthe, Bob Arnold, Chuck Maddox, Bill Maddox, Norman Jorgensen, Bob Hewson, Melton Francis, and Franklin Uthe.

Grade School awards were given to: Norman Kramer, Willie Heim, Bud Yunker, Virgil Butler, Delbert Lillwitz, Gerald and Raymond Cannon.

The high school play "Excuse My Dust", will be given May 15 and 16. Between the acts there will be selections given by the high school students. Margaret Creveling, Marion Peters, Vera and Hilda Zerbs, and Betty Yunker will sing, "Trees" and "The World Is Waiting For The Sunrise". Ruth Gee, Eleanor Cooper and June Schussler will sing, "The Bells of St. Mary's" and Mable and June Perry will sing, "I Only Want A Buddy Not A Sweetheart" and "When The Work's All Done This Fall".

Shirley Braasch will give several tap dance selections.

—LaVern Schmaedeke.

The increasing volume of business accorded the Orland Park post office has made it necessary for Postmaster A. J. Tolle to enlarge the space. The postoffice boxes and parcel post and general delivery sections have been faced about in such a manner as to greatly increase the floor space of the post office. New steel cabinets have been ordered and are expected to arrive this week. The improvements are much appreciated by the patrons of the Orland Park post office.

Saturday evening a Chevrolet coupe driven by Robert Miller of Orland Park was struck and completely wrecked in an accident at 127th and Crawford avenue by a car which failed to observe the stop sign. Riding with Mr. Miller at the time of the accident were Nick Heim and Wm. McAleer also of Orland Park. In spite of the terrific impact, which almost demolished Mr. Miller's car, all three of the young men escaped with minor bruises and lacerations.

NEWS FROM OUR SOLDIER BOYS

Jim Pomeroy, Jr., son of Jim T. Pomeroy, the architect, who has been doing his bit for Uncle Sam for several months was home on furlough over the week end. He has been stationed at Camp Grant with the Medical Training Regiment and reports things all o. k.—after you get used to it. At any rate he was looking fine and feeling fine and made a fine appearing soldier boy.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Heiting have received a card from their son William who was recently inducted into military service. He is assigned to the 31st Infantry Machine Gun Battalion at Camp Croft, South Carolina and Bill states that they are being put thru an intensive training program. However, he says he likes it, is receiving fine treatment and is in the best of health. He also says that Arrian Yunker of Orland Park and Wm. Carmichael and John Gotham of Tinley Park are at the same camp though not in his company and that all the boys are feeling fine.

Elmer Uthe who was recently inducted into the military service, is home seriously ill from an infection.

The May dance held Saturday evening at Goodings Grove by the Orland Park Legion Post drew an immense crowd and all report a fine time. Prizes were awarded in a jitterbug and waltz contest.

The Orland Township Home Bureau Unit met in the home of Mrs. O. Janes, Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Wright, the home advisor, assisted by Mrs. Helen Lembke, gave the major lesson on "Vegetable Cookery."

In the play "Excuse My Dust", which is to be presented by the O. P. H. S., on May 15th and 16th, the following students are taking parts as extras at the beginning of the third act: Gladys Fries, Doris Shaw, LaVern Schmaedeke, Shirley Braasch, Angelo Mele, Lois Maddox, Milton Francis, Carolyn Brennan, Franklin Uthe, Evelyn Rafaraz and Irwin Dorn.

HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

The new fun hit at Orland is a game commonly known as Zellball or tetherball and is equal in popularity with first graders and juniors in high school. Competition for courts is keen and begins immediately after breakfast and only lets up at supper time. Because of this wide spread interest Mr. Larkin has organized a tournament for both boys and girls as a means of determining group and school champions. The school equipment is not yet complete but sufficient equipment is already available to provide participation for more students than any sport has previously made possible. The school physical education department rates this game as one in permanent benefit and as a general all around practical game. It may be played by all ages from 6 to 60, in almost any weather and almost any location, with only one partner and at a minimum of expense. Mr. George Gee has very generously offered the use of play space adjoining the school grounds. The use which is being made of it is all the proof needed of its appreciation.

All members of the grade and high school patrol as well as inside hostesses were treated to the privilege of seeing the White Sox play Washington last week at Comiskey Park. Members of the outdoor patrol had a second trip to the White Sox Park on Wednesday of the past week. There is little doubt in the minds of the persons who remained faithful in the patrol service thru all weather that their services were appreciated.

Robert Hewson is still first place leader in the magazine subscription campaign. Jack Schlosser is second and Jack Jadlicka third. The freshmen have about twice as much as either of the other classes, but this corresponds approximately to the size of the group.

... JUST LIKE MOTHER USED TO MAKE!
(See Recipes Below)

IT WAS WONDERFUL FOOD!

Remember flying home, pigtailed thumping, to smell supper, and guess? Remember being saucer-eyed as mother's marble cake took a blue ribbon at the fair? And remember licking the last bit of sweetness from the frosting platter?

I know you must remember. How could you forget? It was wonderful food!

And it's to the best cooks in the world — our mothers — that this week's column is dedicated. When you pay them homage on Mother's day, 1941, perhaps you'll enjoy using some of the following recipes, favorites of the long ago.

In those days, to be caught without plenty of food, and good food, too, for all comers was to show oneself a poor housekeeper, a bad hand in the kitchen.

But times have changed. A large "crock" of butter, a "basket" of eggs, and a "wedge" of cheese are no longer a part of the regular supplies on the shelf in the vegetable cellar. Nor are recipes penciled on the fly-leaf of the family ledger. But the basic goodness is still the same.

So, whether it be crusty brown doughnuts, chicken pie and jelly roll, huge, fluffy cakes, or rich chocolate pie, let's take mother back, down memory lane!

Lovely to look at and utterly delightful to eat is the Sour Cream Devil's Food Cake, which I'm sure was a favorite of grandmother's.

Sour Cream Devil's Food Cake.

2 cups sifted cake flour
1 teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon salt
¾ cup butter or other shortening
1¼ cup sugar
1 egg, unbeaten
3 squares unsweetened chocolate, melted
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ cup thick sour cream
¾ cup sweet milk

Sift flour once, measure, add soda and salt, and sift together three times. Cream butter thoroughly, add sugar gradually, and cream together well. Add egg and beat very thoroughly; then chocolate and vanilla, and blend. Add about one-fourth of the flour and beat well; then add sour cream and beat thoroughly. Add remaining flour, alternately with milk, a small amount at a time, beating after each addition until smooth. Turn into two greased 9-inch layer pans and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 30 minutes, or until done.

Spread Felicity Frosting on top and sides of cake. Top with glossy

LYNN SAYS:

In an old book of household advice, written in 1879, are some words of wisdom "to help homemakers." I'm passing them on to you "for what they're worth" in the modern, up-to-date home.

"Use a clam shell to scrape skillets or saucepans; to scour your iron pots and griddles, use wood ashes.

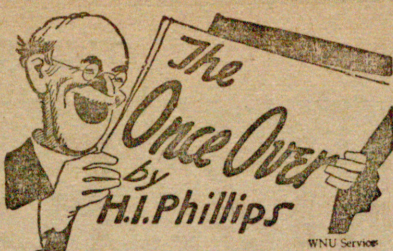

"Sweeping a carpet with new fallen snow will make it look very bright and fresh. Also, it is a good plan to save tea leaves, and, with them not too moist, sweep a dark carpet. This is not advised for light colors.

"Woodwork may be dusted with a long-feathered wing, preferably that of a turkey.

"For washing fine clothes, use a pounder—not a large, old-fashioned affair, but one about twice as large as a potato masher, and pound your clothes as they soak in salt-soda water. The rubbing on a board will then be very easy. Use a clothes wringer if you can possibly get one.

"Never buy ground coffee. Take whole berries and heat; grind while hot.

"All housewives should be well advised in cookery, and should know how to make good dishes, such as 'Jenny Lind Cake,' 'Parsnip Pie,' 'Marrow Dumplings' and 'Flannel Pancakes.'"

HEAVYWEIGHT FIGHT BROADCAST

"... This is the sixth round of the heavyweight championship fight between Joe Louis and Pudge Goops... Louis sends another left to the jaw by Louis... Now Louis lands a right to the head by Louis... Of Goops... By Louis... It's a terrific battle, folks... Both boys are in the center of Louis... of the ring... by Goops... of Louis... It's a right by Louis to the jaw by Louis of Goops... There's the bell!... Goops has been down six times so far... The crowd is wild... Nobody expected Goops would put up such a game showing!

"Seventh round, folks... Louis is shuffling around... He is staring at Goops... This is a stare by Louis... Of Goops... Goops is not to be outdone and he sends a stare by Goops to Louis by Goops... Louis delivers a right uppercut to the jaw by Louis... A left by Louis... A right by Louis... Louis sends two lefts and a right to the jaw by Louis. Goops is down... He is saved by the bell... This showing of Goops has upset all calculations... The crowd is cheering... This is a sensational battle!

"Now comes the eighth round... Goops makes a rush for his corner by Goops. He rushes out straight at Louis by Goops... of Louis... Now Louis floors him with a terrific left to the nose by Louis... and two uppercuts by Louis to the jaw by Louis... Goops is down... He is up... He falls into a clinch of Louis by Goops... Louis just landed four straight smashes to the head by Louis... Louis scores a terrific right to ear by Louis... And a left jab by Louis to the face of Goops by Louis... Louis gets in two stomach punches by Louis... Goops goes down... Goops has been down eleven times... He hasn't landed a solid punch so far by Goops. But he is still in there... All the expert predictions have been upset... Goops has surprised everybody... There goes the bell as Louis sends a hard right smash to the jaw by Louis.

"Ninth round, folks... This is one of the greatest heavyweight championship fights in history... Goops is down again from a left and right and left and right and right delivered by Louis to the jaw by Louis... He is up... He is in very bad shape... He has no defense and doesn't seem to be able to land a solid punch... He is certainly outclassed, but this is the ninth round, folks, and he has upset all the dope by still being in there... Goops is putting up a wonderful demonstration of courage by Goops... He is down again as Louis sends a left and a left and a left by Louis to the jaw... Boy, what a fight!

"Now we are starting round ten in the greatest fight for the world heavyweight championship in years... Joe Louis sends a left to the head by Louis... Goops is down... He's up... I never saw such spirit... Such courage by Goops... Such fighting nerve and spirit... Bam!... Goops is OUT!"

MOVIE VERDICTS

"That Night in Rio."—an insult to South America done in technicolor.

But if "Rebecca" was the year's best picture, as voted, then we'll take Mickey Mouse every time. And we thought Ginger Rogers as Kitty Foyle in the movie of that name was just another movie performer who hadn't read the book.

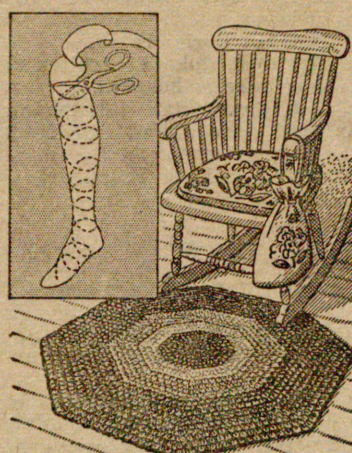

There are a lot of people in this country who will stand for most anything that may come through the war emergency as long as it doesn't interfere with bingo.

A recent newsreel showed a bunch of rookies leaping from planes in a parachute training test. Each carried two chutes in case the first one didn't work. In this picture one lad pulled both chutes.

"Would you do that?" the girl ahead asked her boy friend. "Would I?" he frankly exclaimed. "Say, I'd pull both cords and yell for somebody to throw me a third."

It must seem funny to London not to have any American notables around this week.

TIPS to Gardeners

GARDENS OF QUALITY

THERE have been changes in recent years in garden practices that are worth reporting. Gardeners formerly allowed vegetables to grow as large as possible. This procedure gave a higher yield in pounds, but very often it lowered the quality of vegetables.

Some vegetables, of course, like tomato, must be mature to be palatable; but carrots, cucumbers, beets, summer squash, turnips, radishes, and others are more tender and tasty when not much more than half grown.

Gardeners are finding that it is wise to plant oftener than once or twice a year, to maintain a regular supply of proper-sized vegetables. Gardens prove more enjoyable, and more profitable when successive plantings of favorite crops are made every two or three weeks, providing garden-fresh vegetables for the table over a long season.

It is also true that few gardeners today save flower seeds. Fine flowers growing in the home garden often are cross-pollinated by others of the same species, making flowers grown from their seed inferior, and untrue.

Not So Dusty, but Oh, What an Excavation!

Little Willie had been set to entertain a portly visitor, who, having no inquisitive children of his own, had answered all his questions with unusual patience.

"And what," was Willie's 198th question, "are houses made of?"

"Houses," replied the stout man, "are made of bricks."

"And what are engines made of?" "Engines are made of iron."

"And what is bread made of?" "Flour."

Then, as the anticipated light step and soft rustle of Willie's sister sounded outside, he added, "Now, Willie, I can answer only one more question."

Willie decided that it should be a good one.

After a pause, Willie asked: "Well, what are we made of?"

"Dust and earth, my son."

"My," said Willie, "they must have made a whacking big hole when they took you out!"

Right of Government

The divine right of kings may have been a plea for feeble tyrants, but the divine right of government is the keystone of human progress, and without it governments sink into police, and a nation is degraded into a mob.—Benjamin Disraeli.

Give the Weeds a KNOCKOUT PUNCH

Use This Fast, Clean-Working Farmall Cultivator—the HM-221

YOU GET double-quick dodging action in the fast, clean-working No. HM-221 Quick-Attachable Cultivator for Farmall-H and Farmall-M Tractors.

The exclusive Farmall shifting gang feature enables you, just by turning the steering wheel, to guide the tractor and at the same time shift the gangs sidewise to give you double-quick dodging ability.

You'll appreciate this feature, especially in cross-cultivation and if you have an uneven check or hills badly out of line.

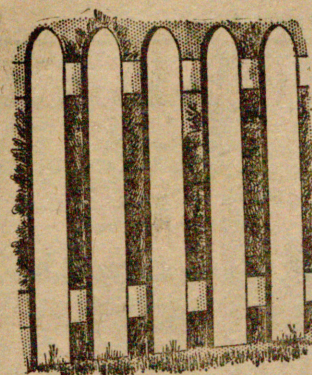

Cultivating goes fast with this outfit—four to five miles an hour, 28 to 35 acres a day. It's a pleasure to use this cultivator, especially if your Farmall is equipped with the new "Lift-All" attachment. Come in and see us about it.
